Antalya's Ancient Harbour

Antalya is regarded by many as Turkey's most beautiful city, benefitting from a benign climate, a scenic Taurus Mountains backdrop, a stunning ancient fortified port, an endearingly picturesque old town, acres of clifftop parkland, and some thoughtful and conscientiously executed town planning. Over 2,000 years of history are represented there, and in addition to a number of interesting and contrasting historic monuments, the city also houses one of the finest archaeological museums in the Mediterranean. Its hinterland largely comprises the ancient prosperous Roman ruled region of Pamphylia, featuring a number of remarkable archaeological sites, most notably the ancient cities of Perge, Aspendos and Side. Turkish classified as a 5-star hotel, the elegant Hotel Porto Bello enjoys wonderful views of both the Mediterranean and the dramatic Taurus Mountains. It also offers a very high quality all inclusive arrangement featuring wonderful Turkish and international cuisine and a wide selection of beverages.
